Personal Profile

I have a diverse education and work experience background. My education has built a strong foundation in creative thinking and visual aesthetics, while my past work experiences have developed my teamwork, communication, customer service, and problem-solving skills.

This diversity allows me to offer both technical and creative approaches in future projects. Discovering my interest in software development, I aim to further enhance this skill set. Currently, I am undergoing training in computer programming, focusing particularly on Java, Python, and web technologies.

By merging my experiences in art and technology, I aspire to bring both technical expertise and a creative perspective to my projects, aiming for a successful career in this field
